

UNTITLED:
A CREATIVE DAVIS-WALKER STORY

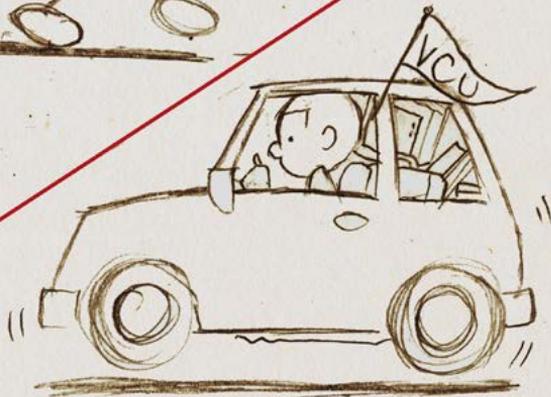

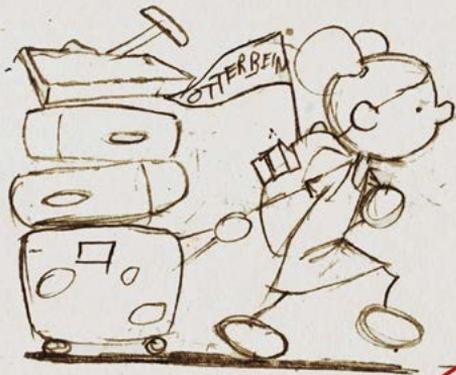

Many, many moons ago in a far off land called California lived a young and talented princess named Evelyn Davis. She was the most gifted artist in all of the land (house).

Several hours away, in the province of Virginia lived a young and talented artist named Steven Walker. He spent almost every waking moment of his days drawing and painting.

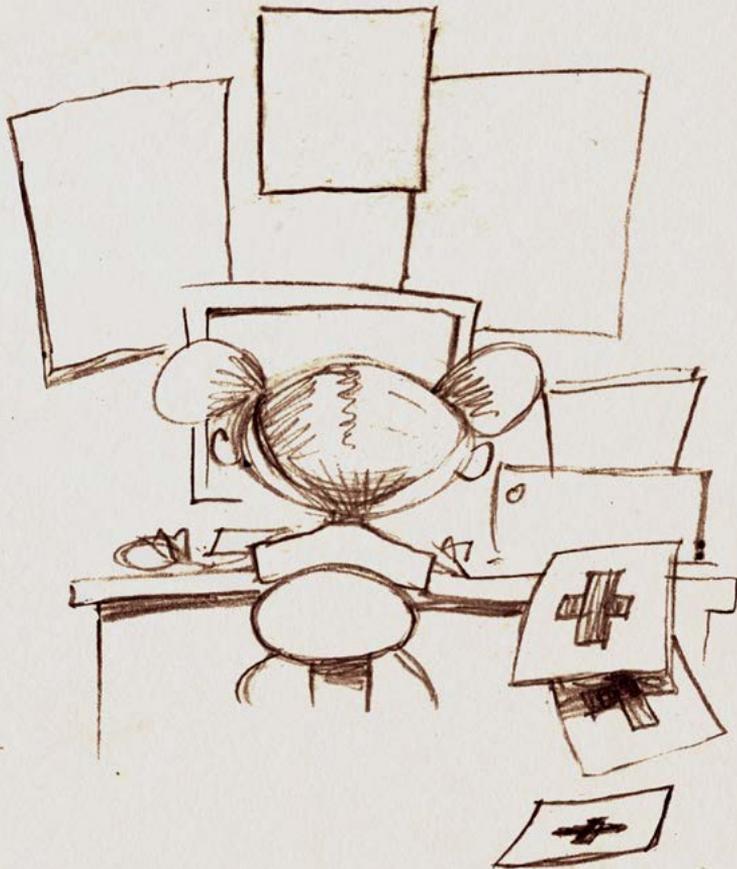

It wasn't long before Evelyn and Steven went to college to pursue their dreams. Evelyn decided to attend Otterbein College in Westerville, Ohio. Steven chose to attend Virginia Commonwealth University.

They both majored in art and excelled.

After graduation Evelyn decided to use her talents for good. She soon found herself working as a designer at the American Red Cross.

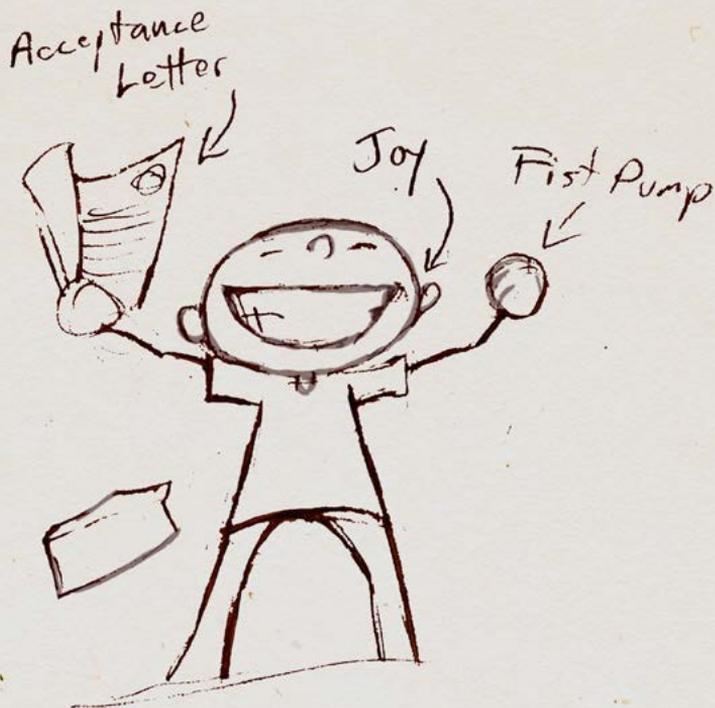

Steven on the other hand decided to work as a freelance illustrator. He worked for clients such as the Boy Scouts of America, National Cherry Blossom Festival and United States Air Force.

In 2004, Evelyn decided to pursue her masters degree in graphic design.
She decided to attend Marywood University in Scranton, PA.

At the same time, in Virginia, Steven had also decided to attend Marywood University. Steven wanted to pursue his masters in illustration.

Marywood University is where the talented princess from Ohio and the gifted artist from Virginia would meet.

As classmates, they found out that they had a common love not only for art but music and soon... each other. The couple joined forces. Evelyn relocated to Virginia to be closer to her "prince" and they began their lives as the dynamic duo.

The newly formed dynamic duo needed a company name. The young prince thought the last name of the princess should go first. While the princess felt that the dapper prince's last name should be top billing.

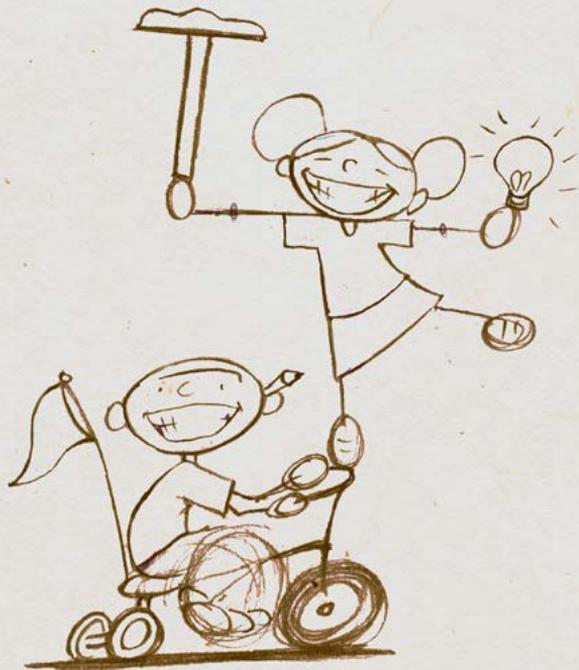

The only way to settle this argument fairly was to have a duel on the hard court.

The noble prince played his hardest and won the heart and name of the company.

The prince and princess love to have fun – and incorporate that same attitude in all that they do. Because of the couple's love for the classics in life, they thought it would be fitting to have a logo based on a childhood classic... the tricycle.

Moments later, DAVIS WALKER CREATIVE was born.

The pair vowed to remain clever committed and creative until the wheels fall off!

The end...
just the beginning.
